

Alicia Hemingway

Planning & Community Services Liaison

What do people appreciate about me?

What you see is what you get – I am honest and appreciate honesty in others – When I am comfortable, my silly side shines through – I care about my work and I am always open to new and creative ideas – People open up to me because I am friendly & approachable – I am empathetic, caring & resourceful

What is important to me?

Being prepared & organized for meetings – Politeness- Building new relationships– Seeing the results of my efforts – Being comfortable in my surroundings and appreciating others for who they are – Laughter & light-heartedness – Following through on a promise – Supporting others and their families; because to me, family is the most important thing of all!

My Likes:

Meeting new people and appreciating their life stories – Creatively finding solutions to big problems – Meditation- Spending time in nature – Trying new ways to be healthy - Finding & sharing new resources & ideas –Slow Sundays

My Dis-Likes:

Sometimes I take myself too seriously - When I don't feel like others are respecting my time – Public Speaking – Being put on the spot - Loud & crowded environments – Not being able to finish something that I have started

Best ways to support me at work:

Be clear about what you need from me - Tell me what to expect if possible because I like to be prepared– Allow for a creative environment – Quiet environments really help me to focus and to be productive